Cadvice...58

Whatz Crackin'...60

Pin-up Calendar...62

Recent studies show that women who perform fellatio daily are at a lower risk for breast cancer.

New York rock club CBGB's will lose its lease in August. CB's has rented the ground floor and basement of a homeless shelter for the past thirty-two years. Its rent has increased erratically in the last five years (this year it will double to $40,000/month), and club owner Hilly Krystal, claiming poor landlord-tenant communication, is in arrears. Barring divine intervention, in two months the birthplace of punk will revert to an anteroom for Bowery bums.

The Save CBGB's folks, who rightly claim that the little piss-soaked bar is an NYC institution, are trying to foment enough public outcry to prompt lease renegotiation. To that effect they've mounted a group art show featuring works by new and old scenesters. [They are also marketing a "Save CBGB's" chocolate bar.]

I was in NYC last month to wish my friend Nick Tosches, who was moving to Paris, bon voyage. I stopped by the storied bar to pay my respects. As I sipped an eight-dollar shot of Wild Turkey and absorbed Joey Ramone's trenchant crayon drawings of kitties on newsprint, I realized I would not be sad to see CB's go. It was a fluke after all that the punk movement coalesced in this shithole club devoted to "Country, Bluegrass and Blues."

Blondie, Television, the New York Dolls, the Dictators, Suicide, the Dead Boys and Talking Heads needed somewhere to play and Hilly Krystal, in a management style that would prove his undoing, was laissez faire enough to let the kids have the stage.

But CBGB's was over and done two decades ago; now it's a five dollar Hot Topic t-shirt. Its raw rock scene moved east to Alphabet City and Brooklyn and west to . . . Portland.

To be an artist in New York City requires far more luck and tenacity (and money) than most creative types can muster. Increasingly New York's idea of art is whatever Oprah likes or whoever's the toast of Reality TV. There are pockets of insurgency. At the "Save CBGB's" art show, I ran into Ethan Minsker, the founder and leader of the Antagonist Movement.

The Antagonist Movement is a burgeoning scene of young hungry artists working to promote art that is not for promotion's sake and which eschews the trappings of corporate sponsorship. The Antagonist Movement, like the CB's scene in the seventies, is living, breathing, fighting. Still it's difficult to forget in NYC that our nation is united under one God: Viacom.

Many have fled. Nick Tosches is fleeing to Paris. Nick says that in Paris you can still smoke and drink freely. Nick says that in Paris they name streets after writers and philosophers, not O.J. Simpson.

The author of several best-selling novels and acclaimed biographies on Jerry Lee Lewis, Dean Martin and more, Nick Tosches is accorded rock star treatment in New York. He counts among his close friends Patti Smith and Keith Richards. He is godfather to Johnny Depp's kid. When Nick Tosches walks into an East Village bar, the curtains are drawn, the doors are shut, and he is free to have a cigarette—or a bag of powdered drugs—with his white wine.

On the eve of Nick's departure, we sat in a park around the corner from his Tribeca apartment, smoking cigarettes and tossing croissant crumbs to birds. A homeless man rummaged through the trash, grinning from ear to ear. Nick, too, was happier than I'd ever seen him.

"You know, babydoll, I'm already gone. I haven't been to a bar in a month. I'm saving myself for that first afternoon in Paris. I'm going to crack a bottle of Bordeaux and sit on my balcony and drink the whole thing. Then I figure I'll take up residence on a bench in Jardin Luxembourg and sit there—just do nothing—for three months."

Three days later I flee, too. Back to the opium woods.

On the plane a Continental Vision music segment appears on the overhead monitors. A wooden puppet of a woman cheerfully updates me on America's top-ten: cookie cutter hip-pop by the American Idols and regurgitated refried smack from washed-up rock gods of yesteryear. I muse that America should just rename itself American Idol.

We hit the cloud cover and the turbulence bumps me out of my reverie. Mt. Hood quietly welcomes us home. Soon we are over the city. The sky is fourteen shades of gray and the hills are a seductive palate of greens and blacks. The sky in Paris, they say, is one hundred shades of gray.

I am happy to be back. There's still enough mulch, enough mud in Portland for creativity to fester. Sure, maybe no one from Portland "goes anywhere." It's cliché that if you do become successful here, you are branded a sell-out and then summarily cast out. But maybe that's not such a bad thing.

The Antagonist (aka the Artist) never creates for wealth, power or fame. The Antagonist is ever vigilant that his ideas are not co-opted by the money machine for it will twist and torture them into something false. The Antagonist creates because he must, because creativity is an act of mutiny on the sea of mortality. And thank God the Antagonist creates, because only creation will stymie the slow suicide of our collective soul.

Nick Tosches will be contributing to Exotic, beginning next month. He has agreed to author new pieces on occasion and is allowing us to run favorites from his vast published oeuvre. This is a coup d'état: I've heard that Vanity Fair pays him $40,000 for his contributions to their magazine. We can only offer him thanks and enough US$ for a bottle of decent Bordeaux.

Merci, baby. À Paris!

People are disgusting. There's no sidestepping that simple fact. For all the sanctimonious belching that attempts to prove human sexuality is a noble and uplifting thing—that it gives us wings to fly, even—most of the evidence clearly demonstrates that our desires drag us down to the level of cockroaches.

So-called “normal” human sexuality is bad enough. Blood-engorged cock pounding into slimy vaginal cave—ewwww! But when the sane researcher wades past the realm of ordinary hetero coupling into the perverted world of fetishes, fixations, and partialism, it becomes a struggle merely to retain the contents of one's stomach. Can't you people behave? I felt like vomiting during this article's entire research phase. You all make me sick!

There is nothing on earth so repellent that someone, somewhere, isn't jerking off to the thought of it. yahoo.com, one of the Internet's most popular search engines and news hubs, allows every psychosexual basket case this side of kiddie-murderers to devote discussion groups to their chosen sexual aberration. At press time, yahoo! hosted 1,861 groups under the “fetish” classification. I've whittled it down to the twenty-two groups which I found funniest.

You'll notice typos littered throughout this piece, at least where group names and posts are cited. Except for removing a few passages and replacing them with an ellipsis (...), I haven't edited or corrected anything. This is partially to retain the originals' authenticity, but also because I'm tired of cleanin' up after y'all.

amazoncrush

Describing itself as “the intellectual exploration of mixed wrestling and crush fetish,” this group caters to the tastes of the masochistic man who enjoys tusslin' with a woman before she eventually squashes him to death.

SAMPLE POST: I want a woman, preferably 400+ lbs, to sit on me while she eats twinkies....

bathroomfetishclub

Let's get the scat fetish out of the way now, shall we?

SAMPLE POST: I get tuened on when I see a women sitting on the toilet straining to move her bowels. I like to hear her grunt-ing and then passing what sounds like marbles.

bears-cigars

Finally, a group for hairy gay men who enjoy looking at pictures of other hairy gay men puffin' away on stogies!

FUNNIEST yahoo! FETISH groups

a rip-snortin' guide to the wildest, weirdest, & wooliest perverts on yahoo!

compiled by JIM GOAD

and cum swap let me know.

BeatingTheSmoking-Fetish

A group for Christian men who are trying to overcome an "addiction to watching women smoke." Christian men assist other Christian men in overcoming this odd predilection, and it all sounds pretty faggy to me.

SAMPLE POST: I struggle with the same addiction. I actually stumbled on your groups page, trying to find Yahoo-groups with pictures/clips of women smoking. I don't know why I have this "fetish", but my fascination with "smoking women" has been going on for a long time. I am very glad that you have this group... it is encouraging to know that a Brother in Christ understands some of what I'm going through.

DavidGallopsLarkLane-SmellyArmpitsClub

A Liverpool homo who loves sniffin' rank fag-pits hosts this group for other Liverpoolian nelly-boys and their malodorous underarms.

SAMPLE POST: I just adore the smell of smelly armpits and body odour it is so animal and sexy don't you think? Please make sure you smell under your arms when you come and visit me ! Deodorant is banned in this club, we like the animal smells best. The smellier the better!

Deaf-Wannabee

On one level, this group caters to the occasional oddball who's sexually attracted to deaf people and/or enjoys wearing hearing aids when they don't really need them. But on a deeper, far more disturbing plane, it offers networking tools for those who are sexually aroused by the idea of self-induced permanent silence. It even offers advice for those who consider "crossing the bridge" by deliberately making themselves deaf. The group moderator claims to have "acquired a substantial hearing loss by choice."

SAMPLE POST: Some...have thought of becoming deaf by choice at some time in their lives but have not yet done so. We have members who wear hearing aids recreationally for fun, others who wear them for need with pride.

diaper_poet

A typical diaper-fetish group. I could have chosen any of them. They're all funny.

SAMPLE POST: Go to <http://DiaperDad.net> to see our expanded free preview section. Diaper Guys and Diaper Gear. Special section on plastic pants... plus new hypno slideshows! A great diaper training technique. Find out about our Diaper Vacations and how to visit our Diaper House. We make guys wear diapers all weekend! Now hiring Diaper Models for the new DiaperDad Diaper Catalog.

E_C_T

A group for "those that get turned [on or] sexually aroused by the thought of" Electroconvulsive Therapy. It serves not only the needs of the S/M freaks who salivate over the idea of shock treatment, but also those who indulge in "electroplay and electrostimulation" as part of their sexual diet. We learn that "a cattle prod won't kill you" as well as which classic Hollywood films feature electroshock scenes.

SAMPLE POST:

My boy and I used our Electro Cock Rings for the first time last night. When he came, electricity shot out of his cock, through my asshole and blew the cum out of my cock. I have never came the intensely before. When my boys load shot out of his Cock and into my asshole it felt like a bolt of lightning! I had seen a demonstration in Chicago a couple of years ago and have always wanted to try it. Glad I finally did...I have just ordered an Electro Anal Bullet. I Can't Wait to try it!!! I'm thinking about the electro glove next. Can't imagine how good it would feel to jack off with it or to have my boy play with my ass with it.

I find so many fursons who draw all this 'fanart' of their furry selves, yet they don't actually own it. I'm quite the opposite, my fursona's pictures has not been altered or any other accessories added to make me look more 'spehsul & hard-core'... ... Hope I'm welcomed here. =D *Waves a paw to all**

For those who fantasize about the Big Green Ass on the Big Green Man from the frozen-vegetable packages.

SAMPLE POST: One day the great giant, standing more than 50 feet high, felt a little lonely. In fact he was incredibly horny, but there were no female giants, so he did the next best thing. He banged the crotch of a tree. Afterward he regretted it because he got splinters, but the deed had been done. The great redwood tree had been fertilized.... Near the top of the tree, was a gigantic pine cone....A sudden gust of wind caused it to fall nearly 200 feet to the ground where it shattered. Hence the untimely birth of the Jolly Green Giant.

SAMPLE POST: *I am a born-again Christian who was once very much into (fantasy) violence against women. I would get off on pictures, videos, and stories about women being hit in the crotch, belly, and breasts. ## MAGIC GARDEN FIRE

Nothing gets a stripper out of bed like a 9AM fire alarm that threatens her livelihood. On the morning of Wednesday, May 4th, a phone call spread like wildfire amongst the Magic Garden girlies. The club had burned down; it was unsalvageable.

By 11 AM a half-dozen un-made-up fully-clothed strippers congregated outside the bar. In the street were shards of glass, charred bits of building, and a circa-1982 stripper shoe. Scenes from Dawn of the Dead played out as strippers who'd forsaken the stage in 1976 strolled bleary-eyed up the street to see the fabled Garden's last stand.

The blaze was started around 8:45 AM by contractors who were drying freshly poured concrete sidewalks with a blowtorch. It quickly spread to the uninhabited, boarded-up upper stories of the Chinatown building that houses the Magic. EIGHTY dreamy firefighters fought to save the venerable institution.

When investigators finally deemed the bar habitable, owner Everett Moore invited everyone in for a drink (by candlelight—the electricity was down all day). The naked girls—after a frantic morning on the phone with mommies and daddies, threatening to move back in—scattered for lunch. Despite reports on all major news stations saying the bar burned down, the girls were giggling and naked by 11:30AM the next day.

NEW MAG IN TOWN

Feathers were ruffled in internet land when the new owner of SFX Magazine was revealed to be Christopher Nardin, a convicted murderer and alleged ____ (fill in the blank). Local media outlets once again contacted Exotic for the poop scoop on the seemingly unending drama that plagues the local "adult" industry. Dishing the dirt, Phil Stanford of the Portland Tribune erroneously cited editor Viva Las Vegas's "long-term monogamous relationship" of five years ago as something that is au courant. Exotic regrets the error.

WHERE IN THE *!#?@ IS GOBLE, OREGON?

The Fourth of July's just a couple cases away. Where are you gonna party? Allow me to suggest the sleepy "town" of Goble, Oregon, just past St. Helens on Highway 30. Goble's first annual Fourth festival features a lollapalooza of the left coast's finest rock bands, including Dark Skies, Goodtime Gil and the Champagne Cowboys, the Nightmares and Diamond Tuck and the Privates. Best of all you get to sleep out under the stars with Portland's greasiest up-all-nighters at the lovely campground behind the Goble Tavern! # CAD vice

by cesar
augustus delillo

Dear Cad,

I am writing in response to your column a few months ago in which you referred to the woman who wrote in to you as "ugly". I live next door to that woman and I must say that your hateful words reveal you for the horrible person that I always believed you must be. You are the ugly one. My neighbor may be morbidly obese, have a mullet and wear filthy clothes but I must remind you that beauty is in the eye of the beholder, and that God teaches us not to judge lest we be judged ourselves, and by that, the Lord means that we should not assume things about people just by how they look. May God Have Mercy On Your Soul,
Bethany Isabel Theresa Cranston-Herdner

Dear BITCH,

I couldn't agree with you more. It is wrong to judge people solely on their looks, which is why I generally only use it as part of the criteria for judging the ugly in my day-to-day life. When I'm writing my column I generally don't take looks into consideration at all because I cannot tell what people look like just by the way that they write. I can however form a mental image of them.

Interestingly enough you just described the mental image I formed of your neighbor. When I read the letter she sent I imagined a filthy fat woman with a mullet. Maybe I'm psychic. I did not however use my mental image as the basis of my judgment that your neighbor is ugly. For that I used an interview conducted over the phone. My editor demands that I contact the author of each letter to confirm its authenticity and make sure it's not a prank. In talking to your neighbor—who as it turns out has all sorts of interesting opinions on gays, Mexicans and Muslims—I formed my opinion that she was ugly.

I asked your neighbor what country the city of Fallujah was in. She said Africa, which is actually a continent. Our president doesn't know that one either, so I didn't judge her solely on that. I asked her if she had ever done any volunteer work. She said she worked at the hot dog factory. I asked her who her favorite living poet was. She said she loved Mariah Carey. I asked her if she could name an expressionist painter and when she couldn't I suggested any painter of any kind. Nope. I asked her what her favorite nonfiction book was and she said Jurassic Park. I asked her if she could name a foreign movie director and she said "that ugly Jew who fucks the gook he adopted." I asked her if she knew what postmodern referred to and she said it was part of the time, that right now it is two o'clock in the post modern. I asked her if she knew what country the Dalai Lama was the spiritual leader of and she said that in India they won't eat llama and that she "don't blame them cause it ain't nothing but a donkey and only Spics eat those." After zero deliberation I decided that your roommate was ugly. I almost specified in print that said ugliness was "on the inside" but did not. Thank you for your physical description which makes retroactive specification unnecessary.

Someone pointed out that most Americans would not have answered the above questions any differently. He said that if I think your neighbor is ugly then I must feel the same about the majority of Americans, and that I must be either Asian, South American, European, Middle Eastern, African, Mexican, Canadian, Australian, or Central American.

I can only wish.
Sincerely,
Cesar

CONFIDENTIAL to Firkin Angry Gentleman

I don't understand what you're worried about. You said that your dad is a Christian. As BITCH points out, Christians never judge others; it angers their God. Therefore it is impossible that your dad could have meant anything negative by the things he said. When he called you a fag, he must have mistaken you for a cigarette and forgot that he was not English. When he called you "a fucking gay," I bet that he meant that you were sexually active and light-hearted.

Plus you can now log on to www.whatzcrackin.com to get the latest news and events happening around town. My partner Brian @ 503girls.com hooked it up. Make sure you also check out his site. Good looking out man!!!

First Up — Are You The Next Porn Star?

If you think you are, then Melodee Bliss is looking for you! I had the chance to meet her a few weeks ago at Young Lyfe's music video shoot. This sexy chick definitely has it goin' on! She is not only a porn star herself, but is now producing and directing her own adult movies. This could be a golden opportunity for some of you out there who are looking to make some good money and have a career in the adult film industry. So if you want to earn $500 to $2500 DAILY(!), Melodee Bliss would like you to contact her immediately!!! Flame Productions is currently casting for several different adult films. They need all different races, shapes, and sizes. If you're interested and sexy, they will fly you to Los Angeles, California, where the filming takes place and provide accommodations. Melodee needs you to send in lingerie shots and/or nude photos of yourself, as well as your general information (including phone numbers and email address) to: flm692003@yahoo.com or call 877-818-4825. Good Luck!!! Maybe I'll see you in the movies...I'm out!

Next Up — J.Mack meets THE MACK?

As I mentioned in the previous column, I was recently at the video shoot for "Bounce Wit' Me", the hot new single by my dogg Young Lyfe. I had the pleasure of picking up Max Julien from the Portland airport and choppin' some game up wit' him about life, the entertainment industry, and his new projects. For those of you who don't know Max Julien by his real name, you might know him as "Goldie", the name of his character in the movie The Mack. He was

To see the music video and hear the music, go to www.younglyfe.com. Julien is currently working on many projects in the film and music industries. Not only that, this cat has so much wisdom, and continues to give back to his people...Big ups Mr. Julien!!!

Iesha — Entertainer/ Manager of Cabaret

If you've been downtown to Cabaret recently, I'm sure you've noticed something enjoyably different! They recently hired Iesha to manage and schedule the entertainers. She even hooked me up to DJ Sunday nights. The club couldn't have selected a better person for the job than Iesha. She is well-liked by the ladies, adored by the customers, and the owners have shown a great deal of confidence in her. Iesha is one of the sweetest women I've ever met, and she is just as intelligent as she is beautiful. Keep up the good work. I'm proud of you!!!

I am woman. I AM!

I'm all woman, for sure, and I do womanly things. Though I can pee standing up, I opt to sit. I enjoy Oprah, having tea, and I am frequently very hard on myself for not being totally perfect all the time. I own an apron and I do it front ways now and again. But one thing makes me an anomalous and somewhat atypical female: I FUCKIN' HATE CLOTHES SHOPPING.

If I ever find myself getting a little big in the head, imagining for a moment that I'm a super fox or something, the quickest way to knock myself down a peg or two is to go shopping for clothes.

My Hell will be a tiny department store dressing room with terrible cellulite-enhancing overhead lights and piles of things that I know won't fit me but I need to try on anyway. It's only with friendly intervention and white-knuckled determination that I have anything decent to wear on stage. Left to my own devices I would always buy stretchy black sweats (maybe gray...DARK gray) and a bag of junior wife-beaters or a super soft black t-shirt that I take home and cut up into a wife-beater.

"I need no reminder that the fashion world considers me a six-foot banana slug in sweats."

Part of my loathing to join the throngs of women and girls trolling the malls and thrift stores is the size issue. There is something damn stinking wrong with the whole system. The size discrepancy seems to be based on economics. Not American vs. Euro sizes, oh no. I'm talking about the difference between low- and high-end fashion. The nicer the store, the fatter I seem to get.

Old Navy says I'm a size four. The Gap says I'm around an eight. And that spendy cunt, Banana Republic, and her date-raping brother, J.Crew, tell me I'm a big fat 12, they're all out of my size, and I should take my stretchy black clothes and my chubby self down the road to the gym and stay there.

Then there's the whole size zero phenomenon. Go to the store right now, a big store like Freddie's. Ask for a dozen eggs, you'll get twelve eggs. Six of Pabst? That's right: six clinky bottles in a box. Now go to the butcher counter and ask for zero lamb chops. How 'bout zero sausages? Zero pounds of buffalo burger meat? What do you get? Nothing. Because, meth heads, zero means nothing's there.

I don't give a fuck how many tubes of Oreos you've barfed or how long it's been since you've menstruated; YOU HAVE A BODY, THUS YOU HAVE MASS. So unless you're a ghost, a memory or an oily fart floating through the store, you take up space and therefore have measurements. Get over it.

No disrespect to my tiny bird-framed sisters who have as hard a time finding flattering clothes as I do. But I'm convinced size zero is another evil that exists only to make women feel humongous. And I, being all woman, feel fat enough of the time that I need no reminder that the fashion world considers me a six-foot banana slug in sweats.

Don't get me wrong. I know I'm hot. It's my job to be healthy, strong and, above all, fuckable. I am proud to be a big loud woman in a world where 3% of the female population is considered physically ideal. My womanliness is something to celebrate. Maybe by poppin' open some beers and grilling up some lamb chops. But never EVER by shopping.
